

The National Olympic and Sports Association of Iceland (ÍSí)

CODE OF ETHICS

This Code of Ethics applies to all parties within ÍSí, i.e., the regional districts/sport unions and the national federations, and to all activities and events organized by the sports movement. You are encouraged to read and honor the rules contained herein:

1. Conduct yourself with integrity and decorum towards yourself and others.
2. Exercise loyalty and discretion in your work, however, within the statutory duty of notification.
3. Do not misuse your authority or any distinction you may have over others.
4. Exercise equality and avoid offending the dignity of individuals or groups, for example regarding race, ethnicity, religion, outlook on life, disability, social standing, age, sexual orientation, sexual awareness, gender properties or expression, in any walk of life.
5. Never participate, directly or indirectly, in betting, gambling, lottery or such events or trading in connection with sports events whose outcome you may affect.
6. Accept neither gifts nor benefits that could result in diminishing your credibility, independence, or impartiality.

NOC's Code of Ethics was approved by the Executive Committee on November 15th 2018.
